PRESIDENT'S REMARKS

Patty Pederson,
President

LETTER TO MEMBERSHIP

Dear Members of the Marblehead Museum:

This is my first letter to you as President of the Marblehead Museum, and I have been looking forward to writing it because the past year has been filled with many accomplishments that I can't wait for you to hear about. I will be going into these in detail below, but for those who like their information in a hurry the takeaway is that our beloved Museum continues to thrive and fulfill its unique function in Marblehead town life. Best of all, 2025 will see the fulfillment of the longest and most expensive project the Museum has ever undertaken--the Jeremiah Lee Brick Kitchen and Slave Quarters. The fruits of that labor will soon be evident to all, and we think this project will be pivotal in positioning the Museum to be at the forefront of community life for many years to come.

First and foremost: I am thrilled to report that our Annual Appeal was the most successful ever. We raised over $155,000 and signed up a record number of new memberships. I am also proud to say that we welcomed thousands of visitors—residents and tourists alike—in 2024, all while extensively expanding our mission to preserve and promote Marblehead's rich history. I'd like to highlight some particular projects and events from 2024:

PROGRAMS:

- Annual Dinner at The Landing
- Colonial Craft Fair
- Sports And Leisure History Walking Tour
- Lee Mansion Ghost Investigation
- Cultivating History Garden Program
- Fall Fair
- Classical Concert with Daniel Adam Maltz
- Pumpkin Illumination
- Haunted: Ghost Stories at The Lee Mansion
- Gingerbread Festival and Holiday Wreath Celebration/Paintings with Marblehead Artist Elaine Purdy

LECTURES:

- Woman and Children First: The Life of Susan Dimock with Susan Wilson
- The Inevitable Revolution with Robert Allison
- Resisting Slavery in Marblehead with G. Patrick O'Brien
- Hidden History of Boston with Dina Vargo
- The Eve of Independence with Judy Anderson
- Marblehead Images with Dan Dixey
- Left For Dead with Eric J. Dolan
- Massachusetts in the Suffrage Movement with Barbara Berenson

EXHIBITS:

- Marblehead Snapshots: The World of Fred Lichtman
- Brick Kitchen and Slave Quarters of the Jeremiah Lee Estate—Progress:
- A dedicated team of staff, board members and volunteers worked with architect Bruce Greenwald, contractor Joel White, Dave Harris, engineer Edward Moll, and of course our Director Lauren McCormack and the Building Committee
- Funds from a National Park Service's Save America's Treasures grant were used to fund construction work in 2024

Other Grants We Received In 2024, Include:

- Rogers Foundation
- Essex National Heritage Area's Partnership Grant
- National Endowment for The Humanities' Historic Places Planning Grant
- 1772 Foundation/Preservation Massachusetts Grant

In closing: I would like to thank our Director Lauren McCormack who works tirelessly and in return has received well-deserved recognition from people and organizations all over the country. Lauren's dream of a fully realized Brick Kitchen and Slave Quarters, which started as nothing but a light bulb in her head over 3 years ago, is fast becoming a reality. I would like to also thank our Associate Director Jarrett Zeman for all of his excellent effort at arranging all of our lectures, programs and exhibits. His work at the Museum has enabled us to be recognized as a world class organization. Finally, I would like to extend a huge "thank you" to our staff, Board of Directors, Garden Club, Financial Board, and volunteers. Without their help and direction, the Museum would not be what it is. We are a small organization with big dreams, and they are the engine which keeps it all humming along and headed towards a bright future.

With Warm Blessings,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Patty Pederson". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Patty" being more prominent and the last name "Pederson" following in a similar style.
